

Support to help you start and grow your importing/exporting business

A guide to international trade support.

Is your business looking for support to enter international markets? Whether you're looking to branch into established markets in Europe or high-growth economies further afield, we can help make your business an overseas success.

Where do i start?

Are you serious about starting your exporting or importing journey? Get in touch with one of our specialist advisers, via the website (scan the QR code above). The team will be able to assess the specific needs of your business, and offer individual support and advice. This will help to navigate your business through the processes needed to export or import internationally.

Find support for your business.

After chatting with our experts, you'll be directed to the most appropriate specialist support available, both locally and nationally, to help guide you through the whole process. All businesses can be supported even if you're an SME, or completely new to importing and exporting, we can help.

On the next page we'll give you examples of the type of support you can access

The services available are a collaborative approach from departments both nationally and locally. To get started and on the right track, consider the following questions:

- Are there staff training needs before you embark on this?
- Do you feel a workshop could be good for you or your team or are you looking for direct advisory support?
- Are you unsure about the documentation you need to get trading internationally?
- Are you looking for a supplier to help import and export goods?
- Do you need more information about the freeport?
- Are you unsure which overseas markets are looking for the products your company produces?

If any of these questions sound familiar, or if you have different things on your mind – our specialists can help you navigate your journey to new markets.
